

Procurement Partner Briefing Report 2022

On November 8 and 9, 2022, we held Procurement Partner Briefing 2022 for our procurement partners in Japan, China, and Thailand over the course of four online sessions.

The Nikon Group holds briefings every year for its procurement partners to spread awareness of its approach to procurement. In these briefings, we explained our approach to building trust with procurement partners and creating social value in both business and sustainability through co-creation activities based on mutual understanding. In addition to explanations on “supply chain information management,” “quality control,” “procurement standards and initiatives for human rights, labor, and the environment,” and “optimization of logistics networks,” we also introduced the subject of human rights due diligence, which is increasingly recognized as important in recent years.

Human rights due diligence involves identifying the risks of human rights violations associated with corporate activities in advance and implementing measures for prevention and alleviation. The Nikon Group is committed to these efforts moving forward. Although this was the second occasion that the briefing was conducted in an online format, we were able to communicate with 1,268 participants from the 1,004 procurement partners that took part.

Going forward, the Nikon Group strives to deepen dialogue and cooperation with procurement partners while fulfilling social responsibilities throughout the entire supply chain as a company trusted by society.
